How?

California Building Standards Law ⁽¹⁾ of 1953
 Established the Building Standards Commission

SB331 (1980) expanded CBSC authority and required state agencies to submit adopted standards to the Commission to have them reviewed and approved for publication in Title 24 – previously they were published in a multitude of individual titles.

BSC Decision Criteria - Nine Points

Health & Safety Code Sec. 18930

- 1) Do not conflict, overlap or duplicate other standards
- 2) Be within the parameters of enabling legislation
- 3) Be in the public interest
- 4) Not be unreasonable, arbitrary or capricious
- 5) Have a reasonable cost given the standard's benefit
- 6) Not be ambiguous or vague
- 7) Incorporate model codes
- 8) Use a format consistent with the Commission's format
- 9) Have State Fire Marshal approval if they promote fire and panic safety

All other policy issues are decided by the proposing agency, not the BSC.
